

HAYNES SEES NATION ALLYING WITH DRYS

'Apathy Giving Way to an Aroused Sentiment for Prohibition.'

PRESS ALSO CHANGED

Severer Sentences Are Being Imposed as Juries Grow Less Hostile.

E. C. Yellowley, prohibition director for the New York district, made public yesterday a report, received from the office of Commissioner Roy Haynes in Washington, covering the methods and manner in which the enforcement laws are being administered and observed in many States of the Union. The report is divided into two parts, one dealing with States that report improved jury conditions, and the other dealing with the cooperation of officials and the attitude of the press.

The report says that apathy on the part of the citizenry generally toward enforcement has been succeeded by an aroused, crystallized sentiment, reflected by strong newspaper support and proffered aid of influential business and professional men. Several States report increased activity on the part of State, county and municipal officials, expeditious handling of cases by courts, severer sentences and more responsive juries.

As proof of the value of enforcement the report says that jails and workhouses have been closed in the following places: Columbus, O.; Norwalk, O.; Birmingham, Milwaukee, Allegheny county, Pa.; Fond du Lac, Wis.; Peoria, Ill.; Schley county, Ga.; Dwight, Ill.; Rockport, Mo.; Ipswich, Mass.; Lowell, Taunton, Newburyport and Fitchburg, Mass.; Covington, Ky.; Douglas county, Minn., and Winnebago county, Minn.

Reports by States.

Under the heading "States reporting improved jury conditions" the report says:

"Kentucky—Verdicts of guilty above nominal.

"Maryland—Juries impartial and in most instances convictions where evidence is justified.

"Missouri—Attitude of federal juries all that could reasonably be expected.

"Nebraska—Attitude of juries uniformly good, and day not far distant when convictions in any court, where evidence substantiates, can be counted upon.

"Illinois—So far as federal courts are concerned, when a case is presented for trial, juries invariably bring in verdicts of guilty.

"Mississippi—Attitude of federal and state juries leaning toward enforcement, with decided victories at Meridian and Aberdeen.

"Oklahoma—Attitude of juries beyond complaint.

"Oregon—In practically all cases, especially in federal courts, where successful termination has been the nearly uniform outcome, and heavier fines and jail sentences are being given.

"Arkansas—Attitude of juries is to enforce all liquor violations, and there is no trouble in securing convictions.

"North Carolina—Juries, especially favorable and offenders given from three to six months on chain gang or in jail.

"Texas—Juries in sympathy with Volstead Act as much or more so than any State in the Union.

"Arizona—Juries in Federal and State courts responsive to public sentiment.

"Wisconsin—Generally speaking, juries treating violations same spirit as other violations. In some instances ex-saloon-keepers sitting on juries have returned verdicts of 'guilty.'

Change in Press Noted.

The report has this to say of cooperation of officials and the attitude of the press:

"Texas—United States Attorneys, Governor, Adjutant General, Ranger Captains, Sheriffs and Chiefs of Police co-operating in every possible way. Press eager and anxious to enlighten citizens and instruct just what the law means.

"Arizona—County and State officials active. Press generally favorable.

"South Carolina—Courts show tendency toward stricter enforcement. Attitude of press good.

"Tennessee—Attitude of press favorable in our favor.

"North Dakota—Press glad to give helpful publicity.

"Delaware—Conditions very encouraging. State and county officials express willingness to cooperate and give every assistance possible. Press, until recently neutral, now coming out strong for enforcement.

"Arkansas—Governor and Attorney General cooperating to the fullest extent. Press of entire State of great help and cooperation for law enforcement.

"Montana—Attitude of press materially changed and more favorably inclined toward enforcement.

"Pennsylvania—Governor offered cooperation of entire State police force. Mayors of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh have offered similar cooperation. Marked difference in attitude of press since visit of Commissioner.

"Ohio—Best of cooperation between State and Federal prohibition officials. Ninety-five per cent. of press favorable.

"Mississippi—All officials cooperating and attitude of press changed considerably in our favor.

"Oregon—Press unqualifiedly hostile to offenders and advocate strict enforcement. Heavier fines and jail sentences being given by courts.

"New Jersey—Press outspoken in upholding Eighteenth Amendment.

"Nebraska—Attitude of press generally good and officials generally cooperating.

"Illinois—Marked results through injunction proceedings, 200 of which have been made permanent and 500 now pending.

"Iowa—State courts giving limit of the law. Press in sympathy with enforcement.

"Connecticut—Cooperation on part of entire State police, Chiefs of Police and Mayors, as well as Sheriffs. Press most decidedly for law enforcement.

"Kentucky—Excellent cooperation on part of State, county and municipal officials. Movement of whiskey by truck practically eliminated. Press very favorable.

"Maine—Pronounced change in attitude of violators, who are exceedingly cautious and taking no chances."

KILLED SKIDDING IN SNOW.

GLOVERVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Dennis Serum, 55, star route mail carrier between Amsterdam and Broadbaltin, was killed instantly in the outskirts of the latter village to-day when his automobile skidded in a five inch snow, which fell last night, and crashed into a fence.
